

Catherine Unsworth	Co-opted Governor
---------------------------	--------------------------

I wanted to become a governor to apply skills that I've developed throughout my working life to helping people living and working in my local community.

I currently work in nanomedicine research at The University of Liverpool, having worked in higher education and research environments since 2007.

I also have a strong background in health and safety and sustainability.